

PROFILE

I love computers and about everything I know about it till today. I am more inclined to cyber security but I fancy about every field in the world of computers.

I like coding and I am fascinated by the advancement of technology by each passing day. I am a very work-dedicated, determined and enthusiastic person. I spend more time working and practicing on my own.

I believe work and environment runs in parallel. There is always more scope to learn and you never really excel wholly, rather just keep getting better at it.
